

Spelling List 12

emit: to give off remittance: money sent by mail admit: to say is true; to allow to enter submit: to yield or surrender to another commit: to perform (a crime); to record to memory for preservation omit: to leave out intermittent: stopping (leaving off), then starting again medieval: pertaining to the Middle Ages Mediterranean: a large sea between Africa, Asia, and Europe mediocre: ordinary belated: too late

begrudge: to envy

belittle: to make someone seem small or unimportant bestow: to give as a gift befriend: to act as a friend besieged: made a long, continual attack beguiled: deceived bedraggled: wet and dirty befuddled: confused analysis: an examination of the parts of something anatomy: the study of the structure of animals and plants anagram: word or phrase formed by arranging the letters of another word or phrase analogy: a similarity between things which are otherwise unlike nullify: to make of no effect or value clarify: to make clear terrify: to frighten greatly specify: to name definitely; to identify dignify: to make noble or proper testify: to give evidence; to bear witness simplify: to make plainer or easier rectify: to make right; to correct intensify: to make stronger or greater liquefy: to cause to become a liquid glorify: to worship or praise mystify: to puzzle or bewilder