

Spelling List 10

dehydrate: to remove water from hydrant: a water spout; fireplug hydrogen: the most abundant element; water is two-thirds hydrogen hydrophobia: an abnormal fear of water hydroelectric: producing electricity by water power congratulate: to express pleasure over someone's success grateful: thankful gracious: courteous and kind ingrate: an unthankful person gratitude: thankfulness reclaim: to take back retrace: to draw over again renovate: to make like new again reject: to cast off reassure: to encourage restore: to bring back to establish again revise: to read over carefully and improve reverse: to turn around or back reserve: to set apart for later or some special purpose reorganize: to rearrange in an orderly way rebuild: to construct again repossess: to reclaim something not paid for contradictory: opposite; contrary exclamatory: showing sudden or strong feeling explanatory: useful for explaining circulatory: moving in a circle satisfactory: adequate; good enough to fulfill the need predatory: living by feeding other animals depository: a place where things are put for safekeeping dormitory: a building where students live and sleep laboratory: a room where scientific work is done directory: a list of names and addresses territory: a large tract of land observatory: a building for observing planets and stars conservatory: a private greenhouse; a school of music or art