

Spelling List 15

salvation: deliverance from sin salvage: to save something after it appears to be lost salute: to greet with courtesy and kind words salve: a healing ointment science: the study of the wonders of the universe conscious: knowing; aware scribe: a person who copies manuscripts scribble: to write carelessly or hastily inscription: that which is written on engraved on stone, paper, or metal prescription: a doctor's written order for medicine descriptive: told or written so as to produce a mental image subscribe: to promise to accept and pay for a service manuscript: written or typed version of a book (as opposed to printed)

Scripture: the Bible circumflex: a vowel marking (^) circumference: the distance around a circle circumvent: to defeat or get the better of by trickery; to go around circumstance: a happening or fact that accompanies an act or event circumnavigate: to sail around circulation: continuous movement around from one place to another paragraph: a division of a written composition parasite: one who lives at the expense of another paraphrase: a rewording of the meaning paramedic: a person who assists a doctor or gives medical help in an emergency paramount: supreme; dominant; most important paradox: a statement that seems to say two opposite things occurrence: an event indulgence: the act of being permissive; leniency correspondence: communication by letter excellence: superiority reverence: a feeling of deep love and respect insistence: the act of demanding proficiency: skillfulness; expertness urgency: a need for action emergency: a sudden unexpected occurrence